

Use your FSA/ HSA benefits before it's too late!

use your flex plan dollars before december 31st

Using a spending account is like getting a discount on certain expenses — not because the expenses are less, but because you are paying them with the money that has not been taxed. A flexible spending account, commonly referred to as an FSA, is an employer-provided benefit that allows you to set aside money for your health spending needs on a pre-tax basis. The money can go toward all manner of medical-related expenses, and can save you quite a bit of money when managed properly. Some plans require that the money you contribute must be spent before December 31 or you may lose it. Some of the vision-related services and expenses that you may qualify for are:

- Extra Pair of Sunglasses
- Prescription Eyeglasses
- Contact Lenses / Solution
- Eye Health Examination
- Laser Vision Correction
