

We are going to the Eye Doctor

Social Story

We are going to the eye Dr. today.

When we get there we need to check in at the front desk with the receptionist.

We will have to sit in the waiting room until our name is called. There may a lot of people waiting with us.

When it is our turn they will call our name and we will go in a room for them to take pictures of our eyes. We must sit down, lean forward into the machine and look at the picture in the viewfinder. We must stay still and not blink our eyes so they can take a good picture.

When they are done taking picture we will go downstairs to the kids' area. They will have a fun area you can play with toys or read books till it's your turn to see the Dr., or use the sensory room if we need a break.

When the nurse calls us back she will put you in an exam room.

You will sit in a big chair that moves up and down. They will give you a black spoon to put over your eye and you will read the letters from the chart on the wall.

You will then look into this big viewfinder machine that shows you letters. You will be asked to read the letters, some will be very clear and others may be blurry.

You will then use another machine. You will put your chin on the pad and place your eyes on the viewfinder. They will show you words and colors and ask you which one you can see more clearly.

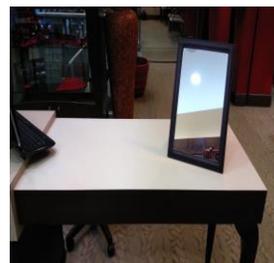

We might have to wait a little while till the Eye Dr. comes in and takes a look at our eyes. She may shine a light in your eyes so she can see better and ask you to look at an object as it moves.

The Dr. may put drops in your eyes. If she does we will have to wait in the kid's waiting room for a little while till the pupils of our eyes dilate or get bigger. We may be more sensitive to light and our vision might get a little blurry. After a while the Dr. will call us back and take a look in your eyes again.

The Dr. will tell us how your eyes are and if you need special eye glasses or not to see better. If you need glasses, we will go upstairs and sit at a desk to try on some new pretty color frames and see yourself in the mirror. You get to pick out the ones you like the best.

We did it!! We finished our eye Dr. appointment!
